

ALEXANDRIA.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 17.

ACCORDING to the report, of Mr. Lewis McKenzie's speech at Hamilton, published in yesterday's GAZETTE, the chief complaints of the maker thereof were that the negro vote in the South is suppressed and that there is "nothing to" Gen. Lee but his father. Concerning the first, Mr. McKenzie is the last man to utter an objection, as, after the war, he made a speech in Lyceum Hall, in this city, in which he said "the negroes had not the impudence to ask for the privilege of suffrage," that their vote is not suppressed in Virginia is proved by the fact that seven of the State's ten Congressional representatives are republicans. Concerning the second, Mr. McKenzie, like Gen. Lee, is the son of his father, and though that fact did not prevent his election to Congress, what he did, as a representative, to benefit his district, his State, or his section nobody can tell—certainly the Congressional Record doesn't, and that, too, though both branches of Congress and the Presidency were at that time in the possession of his party. Gen. Lee has done all that any other man could have done in his position and under similar circumstances; and, besides, he has the honor and respect of all his colleagues of both parties, and in his local objects not only receives the support of his political friends but of his political enemies also, as was demonstrated by his successful management of the Theological Seminary bill. Mr. McKenzie should let politics alone; even the people who used to be his friends don't like to see him engaged in the unseemly business of railing after third and fourth rate radicals, South-baiting, republican Congressmen at the Capitol in Washington, soliciting them to come to Virginia and make partisan speeches at negro meetings.

THIS MORNING'S dispatches from Chicago report the street car strike in that city as by no means settled, and that the car companies insist upon retaining the large number of new men they have employed, and so arranging their time tables that those of the old men who may be taken on again will receive less than they did before. It is stated that the leaders of the strike are endeavoring to show the old men that they led them into a strike that was for their benefit, but that the feeling among the latter is growing very bitter, as they see the result. Some of them declare they want nothing more to do with labor organizations, particularly when they are run by the kind of people who are leading them. As long as government exists the law must be observed, and as law protects private property, the owners thereof will conduct their own business to suit themselves, and not other people. Then, too, violence always defies the sympathy of the conservative portion of the community from those by whom it is committed.

MR. SPEAKER CARLISLE says "it is the deliberate purpose of the leaders of the republican party, if it succeeds in the next election, to reopen all the old sectional animosities which at present lie buried by Grover Cleveland." Indeed it really seems that such is the predetermined intention of the republicans, that is if the present words and acts of their most prominent and influential men afford any indication of what their future action will be. All patriotic men must deplore such a purpose, and most all right thinking men will do what they can toward preventing its consummation, by voting against the republicans next November.

THE RICHMOND Dispatch says it does not suppose there is any apathy in the democratic ranks in Virginia. This is bad for the Dispatch, for it shows that that paper must be both deaf and blind. That there is great apathy, and lukewarmness, and disinterestedness amidst the Virginia democrats is well known to everybody who goes among them; and what's more, if the State shall be retained in the democratic column, it will only be by the early dissipation of that patently existing apathy, and by the earnest and unceasing efforts of every democratic worker within her limits from now until the sun goes down on the day of election.

A PERUSAL of Senator Pascoe's recent speech, not only revives the memory of the outrageous fraud by which the vote of Florida was stolen in 1876, but brings out the particulars of that fraud even in stronger color than those in which they were ever before portrayed. And yet the chief perpetrator of that monumental fraud, Mr. Chandler, and his principal associates, Senators Edmunds and Hoar, are now Mr. Pascoe's Senatorial colleagues, and prominent leaders of the party now engaged in a desperate attempt to regain possession of the country.

THE NEW YORK Herald asks: "Are we to remain the Southern States to the deplorable barbarism of negro domination, inevitable under republican rule?" That that would be the result of such rule is known of all men familiar with the true condition of the South. But the republican party would not hesitate to deliver the South, bound hand and foot, over to ignorant and vicious negroes, if by so doing it could regain possession of the country.

ONE of the ex-Union soldiers from Pennsylvania who attended, as an invited guest, the recent unveiling of General Pickett's statue in Richmond, says "in plain words, the rebels behaved shamefully, and they are, if possible, worse now than when they were in actual war, trying to destroy the country which they control now." When will the selfish of the reunions of "the blue and the gray" cease? They only serve to prolong and continue the disunion.

A PERSONAL letter to the editor of the New York Herald from a trusted correspondent now making a tour of political inspection in that State, says the republicans thereof will come down to the city with 70,000 majority. As Mr. Cleveland's majority in the city four years ago was only 38,597, the democrats there had better settle their differences and go to work like beavers, if they would elect their national ticket next month.

AN ENTIRE revolution of feeling towards the man who threw rotten eggs at Senator Blair at Charlottesville has taken place since that Senator called the President an "infamous liar" for vetoing a notoriously fraudulent private pension bill. It is now generally regretted that the man referred to is not a better marksman.

From Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17, 1888.
Senator Daniel returned to the city last night. He says he is confident that his, the 6th, or Lynchburg, congressional district of his State, now represented by Mr. Hopkins, who was elected by the combined labor and republican vote, will go democratic next month. A gentleman, here to day, who saw Mr. Stuart, of the 9th Virginia district, in Richmond yesterday, says that gentleman told him that Buchanan, the democratic candidate in that district, is making an energetic and effective canvass, and is bound to be elected. A letter received here to day from Marion, in the same district, says the democrats there have gone into this campaign to win, and are sure of success. Mr. Warwick, of Richmond, who was here last Saturday, said he thought Mr. Wise would be re-elected there, but only by a small majority. Representative Hooper, of Mississippi, will leave here this evening for Fredericksburg, where he will speak to night.

Invitations to attend the democratic meeting in Baltimore to-morrow night, have been received by a large number of democrats of this city. Every one contains a request that any money that can be spared must be sent to New York at once, as much will be required to carry that State. Speakers Carlisle and representatives Breckinridge, McMillin, Allen and other distinguished democrats will address the meeting.

Mr. Oates, the author of the House adjournment resolution, has gone home. It is understood that when his resolution shall come up for consideration to day Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee, will move to refer it to the Committee on Ways and Means, and, if his motion be defeated, will prevent action upon it by calling attention to the fact that no quorum is present.

Nothing more will be done to day securing a new postoffice for this city during the remainder of the session.

In the House to-day Mr. Cox made it clear that the package containing democratic campaign matter, said by the New York Tribune to have been sent through the mail under his frank to thousands of people, was the only one sent, that the frank on it was fraudulent, that the Tribune refused to give it to the postoffice inspector, even on the written order of the person to whom it was addressed, that the Tribune did all in its power to prevent the detection and exposure of the man who forged Mr. Cox's signature, and that the whole affair was a clumsy, silly and impotent attempt at deception for partisan effect.

In the House yesterday evening Mr. Bowden presented a petition from certain citizens of Clarke, Frederick, Warren and Dinwiddie counties of Virginia in favor of pure food, drugs and lead.

Among the bills introduced in the Senate to day was one by Mr. Ingalls to put the name of General Rosecrans on the retired list, with the rank of Major General. The General is now Register of the Treasury, and when a negro messenger in his office was removed and a Virginia ex-Confederate appointed to the vacancy, refused to have him, assigning as the reason that he did not like to have ex-rebels so near him.

Only 38 of the 325 members of the House were present to-day, the others having gone to their respective homes. Among the members who have been away and returned are Messrs. Cox and Mills.

Representative White, republican of New York, says that no matter who may be elected next month, there will be a pronounced improvement in the business interests of the country after the 1st of January, in consequence of the large amount of the surplus in the Treasury that will by that time have been released and restored to the circulating currency.

In the Senate to-day Mr. Teller, republican of Colorado, replied to Senator Vest's recent speech in reference to the financial policy of the administration.

The President to-day returned a large number of private pension bills to the House with his disapproval, as all of them were fraudulent, and had been rejected by the Pension office when not only all the clerks, but even the head of that office, were republicans.

It is estimated at the Treasury Department that the surplus of the current year of the current fiscal year will be one hundred and twenty-two million dollars, three fourths of which will have been exacted from the poor people of the country by the unjust and iniquitous tax on the necessities of life.

Mr. Washington McLean, the proprietor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, is building the most complete plant ever in this city, at the intersection of 15th and I streets.

Mayor Hewitt, of New York, has written a letter accepting the citizens' nomination for mayor, but reiterating his willingness to withdraw if the Tammany candidate will do the same and if a good candidate is named. The mayoralty question in that city is in a middle deadly.

Emperor William, King Humbert, Prince Henry of Prussia and the Duke of Austria and Gouva arrived in Naples yesterday. The progress of the visitors from the station to the royal palace was made at the slowest pace, owing to the density of the crowd which had gathered along the route. It is estimated that there were half a million persons on the street.

A number of clerks in the departments at Washington are putting the practice of pairing employed in Congress to a novel use. It is said that many republican clerks who feel that they cannot afford to go home to vote, are pairing off with democratic clerks from their States who are likewise peculiarly embarrassed. By this arrangement the relative standing of the two parties is left unchanged.

LORD MOUNT TEMPLE.—The Right Hon. William Francis Cowper Temple, first Baron Mount Temple, whose death was announced in yesterday's GAZETTE, though a prominent politician in his day, will be chiefly remembered as the stepson and heir of Lord Palmerston. He was born at Brock Hall, Herts, in 1811, and was the reputed younger son of the fifth Earl Cowper, his mother being the sister of Lord Melbourne, who was the prime minister at the time that Queen Victoria came to the throne. In 1839, after the death of Earl Cowper, his widow became the wife of Lord Palmerston. Common report had it that the marriage was essentially a proper one, for Lady Cowper's younger son bore a startling resemblance to the celebrated statesman who became his stepfather when he was twenty-eight years of age. In 1860 he was made a peer under the style of Baron Mount Temple, and so little did he care to discourage the popular story of his parentage that he quartered the Temple arms along with his own. At the same time he made over the Irish property to the Hon. Evelyn Ashley, his nephew, second son of Lord Shaftesbury. These estates are chiefly on the coast of Sligo.

The publication in Monday's New York Herald of a confidential note from a correspondent who is making a tour of the western counties of New York State, declaring that the feeling there is so strongly anti-Cleveland, largely on the tariff issue, as to make the State sure for Harrison unless the city democrats can come up to the Harlem river with more than seventy thousand majority, has created a stir in political circles. It is stated that the publication was due to the return of James Gordon Bennett, the Paris editor of the New York daily never returns to this country without a surprise. Sometimes the surprise is confined to the walls of the Bennett building, but upon this occasion Mr. Bennett's lady took a different course. On Sunday night he took dinner with a member of the democratic national committee, Mr. Herman Oelrichs, at the latter's house, which seems destined to fatalities for the democratic committee. The dinner was one of many courses, such as Mr. Bennett is accustomed to enjoy in Paris. Immediately after dinner he drove to the office of his paper, where the Buffalo letter had arrived. Although of a personal nature Mr. Bennett, it is said, ordered the publication. Whether this act was due to Mr. Oelrichs' statement of the real situation or to the dinner at the Gileys is yet a matter of conjecture.

DEMAND REFUSED.—Recently a committee of five, appointed by the South Carolina republican executive committee, waited on Gov. Richardson and demanded representation on the county boards of election "for the sake of an honest ballot and a fair count." On Monday Gov. Richardson made a written reply to their demand. It is in substance that the elections in South Carolina are now the fairest in the world, and were only corrupt under republican rule. He would make no change in the present order of things, for he considered that to accede to this request of the republicans would result in a fair and peaceful election. He proposed appointing as commissioners of election men of standing, whose patriotism and honesty could be doubted by none. In conclusion he said that the committee could not make their demands in the name of any organized party, as the republican party has been so dead in the State for years past that their non-recognition as a party was justified.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.

SENATE.

At the beginning of the morning business the republican side of the chamber was represented by eight Senators (Allison, Chase, Dolph, Frye, Hale, Hoar, Sawyer, and Teller,) and the democratic side by ten, (Brown, Cockrell, Coke, George, Hampton, Morgan, Pugh, Reagan, Saulsbury, and Wilson, of Maryland.)

On motion of Mr. Morgan, the Committee on Foreign Relations was authorized to sit during the recess in Washington or New York in the investigation of the La Abra claim against Mexico. The special committee on the method of business in the Departments was also continued—Mr. Cockrell, its chairman, stating that this would involve no expense.

The Senate then, at 12:30, resumed the consideration of the tariff bill and was addressed by Mr. Teller.

HOUSE.
The Speaker laid before the House twelve pension veto messages, and they were referred to the Committee on Invalid Pensions.

Mr. Cox, of New York, rising to a question of privilege, sent to the clerk's desk and had read an editorial from the New York Tribune of the 20th ult., entitled "S. S. Cox's postal fraud," charging him with sending unfrankable matter through the mails under his frank.

Mr. Cox said he had been in the Tribune office where he had examined the package, and he unhesitatingly pronounced it a forgery.

The House adjourned without taking any action on the adjournment resolution.

A Deplorable State of Affairs.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 17.—M. J. Horpmann, of this city, who has been investigating the condition of the farmers in Ramsey county, Dak., who were reported to be starving to death, returned last night. He says there are seventy families who are absolutely destitute of food and fuel; and something must be done, and immediately. The real condition of the people is beyond description. Men, women and children are in rags, and they have not a cent of money in the world. Their crops were totally destroyed and their land, stock and farm implements are mortgaged. Absolute distress prevailed everywhere. A minister was living in one room with his wife and two children. One of the latter was wrapped up in a crib in order to keep warm and the other was blue and shivering with cold and emaciated with hunger. There was no fuel with the exception of a little dry manure, which is all that any of the families have to burn, and the only thing they had to eat was a dry crust of bread. Mr. Horpmann says the frost which came in August destroyed all of the wheat that there was, as well as all vegetables, even those which are as hardy as turnips.

Explosion on a Steamer.

CALAIS, Oct. 17.—The force of the explosion of petroleum exploded on board the French steamer Ville de Calais, which arrived here October 10, from Philadelphia, tore off the deck and partly carried away her sides. Only the forward portion of the vessel sank and the fire is raging furiously in that portion above water. The wreck is lying in the upper dock. Other shipping lying in the vicinity of the steamer was much damaged by the explosion. It is feared that the loss of life was great. Portions of a dozen bodies have been found lying on the quay, arms, legs and heads being scattered about in shocking confusion. (The Ville de Calais, which was a steel screw steamer of 1321 tons, was built at Newcastle, Eng., in 1887. She was owned by G. Pall & Co., and her home port was Calais.)

Want to be Put Back.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—The dissatisfied North Side conductors and drivers held a general meeting this morning. The principal business before it for discussion was the fact that over 500 of the old employees were yesterday refused the privilege of returning to their former positions and taking out cars. A committee was appointed to ascertain how many of the old men were at work and how many idle. A letter was prepared addressed to Mayor Belden week of Lakeview, asking him in conjunction with three members of the Common Council of Lakeview to act as a committee to wait upon Mr. Yerkes with the intention of asking him that the old drivers and conductors be reinstated.

Assassinated.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 17.—A week ago news was received from Billings that Lewis Sweet, assessor of the county, had committed suicide. Later developments prove that instead of suicide it was an assassination. The position of the body when found showed that deceased was undressing preparing to retire, when the assassin fired through a window screen, six buckshot lodging in his heart. Governor Leslie has offered $1,000 reward for the capture and conviction of the murderer.

Accident in a Tunnel.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Oct. 17.—When the West Shore train which left Weehawken at 6:15 last evening reached a point in the West Point tunnel where the roof is being repaired, a large mass of rock and earth came down on the baggage and express cars, crushing them and suddenly stopping the train. Nobody was injured. The damage to the tunnel is great and it will be fully a week before it can be used.

Foot Races.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—H. M. Johnson, champion sprinter of the world, ran three races yesterday with W. C. Bryan, of Sioux City, Ia. They were two 100 yards races and one 300 yards dash. Johnson won the first 100 yards dash in 9.45 seconds. He won the second, 100 yards in the same time. Bryan won the 300 yards in 33.45 seconds.

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 17.—The twenty-fifth annual international convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers assembled here this morning, in Belvidere hall. The body will re-convene in the Richmond Theatre, where the public exercises will take place. These will consist of an address of welcome by Mayor Ellison, speeches from Gov. Lee, Col. A. S. Buford and Judge S. B. Wilt and reading of annual address by Chief Arthur.

Miners' Strike.

BEVIER, Mo., Oct. 17.—The coal miners' strike will probably end without further bloodshed. Last evening the operators and the miners' committee announced themselves ready to arbitrate. They met at Summit and the operators offered a slight advance, about one third of the demand made by the miners. The indications are that the proposition will be accepted.

Killed his Father.

MAHOMET, Ill., Oct. 17.—George Rowe, 15 years old, the son of Jas. Rowe, of this place, shot his father yesterday, the ball passing through his neck. The father will die. Rowe charged George with stealing cigars from the show case and a quarrel resulted. The father threw a scale weight at his son, who thereupon immediately drew a revolver and fired.

Death of Count Robilant.

ROME, October 17.—Count Robilant is dead.

A Plot to Disfigure a Lawyer.—

Baltimore police are wrestling with a conspiracy case which will require more than ordinary skill to unravel. The principals in the case are William A. Taffee, a young lawyer; Hamilton Delahy, a confidential clerk in a large retail establishment, and Annie Herbert, the keeper of a disorderly house. About four weeks ago the woman received by mail a letter asking whether she would do a certain job for $50. This job was to smear a liquid, which the writer would furnish, on the face of a party he would name if she accepted his proposition. She was to answer through the columns of a daily paper. This letter bore no signature, and was at once handed over to Marshal Frey. The latter detailed Detective Pontier to work up the case, who inserted the following: "H. D.—I agree." The next day Annie Herbert received a bottle filled with sulphuric acid, and accompanying it was a letter informing her that William A. Taffee, a lawyer on Lexington street, was the man on whom it was to be used. At the same time he warned her to keep the stuff out of his eyes. After waiting several weeks the fiend became impatient and wrote again, asking what she proposed to do, and to let him know through the paper. To this the detective replied by notifying "H. D." that a letter awaited him. A decoy letter was then placed in the box at the American office. George McLaughlin, a small boy, called for the letter and was at once arrested. He said he had been sent by Ham Delahy, a clerk at Dammann Bros. Pontier at once arrested Delahy, who was released on bail for a further hearing. His explanation is that the initials "H. D." led him to believe that the letter was for him. Taffee does not know Delahy, and the woman knows neither. Delahy declares his innocence, and the police are at a loss for a motive. The case is a remarkable one and puzzles the detectives.

PHYSICAL CONDITION.—Chewing gum has come to be considered the popular cure for dyspepsia, at least by those young dames who have reason to imagine that they suffer from the ill effects of midnight suppers and too long a series of dinner parties. In Newport last summer peppermint drops were introduced at a certain point in the meal and partaken of by everyone, and at an entertainment which was given recently, when ice cream was served, Jamaica ginger was passed, and a few drops recommended to counteract the effect of the ice. When the plates were changed for the last time at a gentleman's dinner given a few nights ago, each one held a ticket for a Turkish bath, a sad commentary on the condition that the guests must have been in.—New York Press

WANTED TO BE BOTTLED EGGS.—The democratic executive committee received information Saturday of an unusual proposition that was made by a republican elector in the fourth district, who called on Mr. L. J. Keene, mate of the steamer Maggie E. Burke, and told him that himself and another young republican were coming to Mr. Keene shortly to make campaign speeches, and they desired to hire him (Keene) to throw (or cause to be thrown) rotten eggs at them, so they could create some excitement at the North. Mr. Keene did not accept the proposition, but reported the facts together with the names of the men, to the chairman of the democratic executive committee.—Mobile, Ala., Register.

The editor of a Kentucky paper is advocating an amendment to the constitution of the United States "by which the names of men could be changed to those of the women they marry in those instances in which the women are much more important than their husbands."

I have always been much annoyed by neuralgia and headache and finally determined to try Salvation Oil. I am glad to recommend it as it made a perfect cure in my case.

DIED.

On the 17th of October, JANET, infant daughter of Charles L. and Maggie Padgett, aged 1 year and 11 months, died. Funeral Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the residence of her parents, 214 North Alfred street. Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend.

READ OUT FOR WALTZING.—The Catholic girls of the town of Wallingford, Ct., are greatly excited over the public reproof by Father Mallon, of the Holy Trinity Church, of three of their number for round dancing. At a recent service the priest announced that three young women who were members of his church had recently engaged in round dancing. He had strictly forbidden the members of his parish to engage in round dances. For punishment he proposed to publicly call their names. In a loud voice he then announced that Selia Hanley, Sarah Ginty and Nellie Curran were guilty of having waltzed at a private given two weeks before. The young women were sitting in the congregation, and to say that they were embarrassed is putting it rather mildly. Their friends became very angry, and the service had no sooner closed than little indignation meetings were held on all sides. Some supported Father Mallon, but the majority of the people in the church considered his action entirely uncalled for.

The champion foot ball has been made in New Jersey. Two men agreed that after the election one was to trundle the other in a wheelbarrow, through the principal street of New Brunswick, stopping six times to drink six bottles of champagne.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The general stock market was dull and featureless this morning, but there was an active trading in a few stocks. First prices were somewhat irregular but about steady as a rule as compared with last evening's figures, but a strong tone was developed immediately and the list moved up slowly, the gains in the general list extending only to a few per cent. Richmond and West Point preferred gained 7/8, at 116 1/2, the market was quiet but firm at the last prices reached. Money easy at 2 1/2.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 17.—Virginia consuls, 37 1/2; post-due consuls, 104 1/2; 35 1/2; 64 1/2 bid to-day.
